

Savage's Bluewater Cuddy Cabins offer Families Cruising Comfort

Families are experiencing the comfort and freedom of boating with Savage's range of Bluewater Cuddy Cabins.

The Bluewater range features the 515 and the 545 both of which provide comfort for the family whilst at the same time catering to the needs of serious offshore fishermen.

All boats in the Bluewater range are built with moulded fibreglass cabins and aluminium hulls with plenty of storage space options.

National Account Manager Cameron Wood says the Savage Cabin boat range is great for family adventures and ideal for serious offshore fishing.

"Our range of Bluewater cuddy cabins have been built for maximum comfort and adventure, and with the larger cabin areas your family is protected from the elements," he said.

"The designs of the cabins allow plenty of storage space and room for electronics and instrumentation that is needed to find that perfect catch.

"The aluminium hull and folding rear lounges provide a stable platform for fishing from and for any other fun family activities on the water," he said.

"Both models in the Bluewater range are packed with features and the height of comfort on the water.

The 515 Bluewater Cabin measure an overall length of 5.18m and a beam of 2.20m with a 75 litre underfloor fuel tank and a maximum speed of 100 horsepower.

For families after a larger boat the 545 Bluewater Cabin measures an overall length of 6.45m with a beam of 2.33m and a 118 litre underfloor fuel tank with a maximum speed of 150 horsepower.

Unique features of the 515 and 545 Bluewater Cabin include fully marine carpeted flooring, two swivel skipper seats aft seating, high gunwales and broad beam for maximum safety, two rod holders, anchor storage and stylishly moulded fibreglass deck with plenty of storage available.
